CHARLES H. KORNS

On July 24, 1876, at Millersburg, Ohio, a pair of twin boys were born to Charles William Korn and Anna Elizabeth Korn, nee Anna Elizabeth Knight. They were the ninth and tenth children born to these parents. They were named William Harry and Charles Harvey, each getting one name from their proud father. The first nine years of their lives were spent on the farm of their birth, about four miles west of Millersburg, just off of what is still called the state road. In the fall of 1885 they lost their father, and the following spring moved with their mother and the most of the family to the state of Iowa. Here they lived on a farm a few miles from Traer, Toledo County, for two years. The next year was spent in the town of Toledo, the same county, the twins attending public school. A further trek westward was taken in the fall of 1888, the destination being to Ida County, Iowa. The mother died about a year later, when the home was broken up, and the twins were separated. William Harry remained in the west, whereas, Charles Harvey returned to Ohio.

In his childhood and youth he went by the name Harvey, and even today is so known in Holmes County. But owing to the signature, Chas. H. Korn, which he always used, he is known among his friends at Pittsburgh, Pa., by Charley.

Ten years following 1890 were spent by Charles H. Korn in and about the Hopewell Church district. He prepared himself to teach country schools by diligent study at Johnston's school, and, without going away to school as they say, secured a county certificate and taught for several years.

On Sept. 7, 1898, he was united in marriage with Miss Cora M. Lecky. The next three years were spent on a farm. The summer months were occupied in tilling the soil and the winter months in teaching.

In 1901 he moved with his wife and son to Alliance, Ohio, and entered Mount Union College. The course was complete in June, 1905, when he was graduated with honors with the degree of Bachelor in Science, having chosen teaching as his profession, he majored in Chemistry and Physics with a minor in Mathematics. The first year out of college was spent in teaching science in his Alma Mater. The next eight were spent teaching science in the Bradford High School, Bradford, Pa., and as Principal of the school, occupying the latter position for three years.

In February, 1915, he entered Columbia University for post graduate study. A teaching position was secured at Yonkers, New York, and the time was divided between teaching and evening and Saturday study at the University.

In February, 1917, a call came to teach in Pittsburgh, Pa., and he taught to the time of his death in that locality. Columbia University graduated him in 1918 with the degree of Master of Arts. Charles H. Korn's died Aug. 30, 1948.

On June 6, 1899, Virgil Eben Korn's was born, the first child and only son. In June, 1916, he entered the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md., and was graduated on his twentieth birthday, June 6, 1919, and commissioned an ensign. Since that time he has had two promotions. In World War I he had short service. In World War II he was active in Europe and in the Pacific. During this service he was Commodore and is now a Captain in charge of the Naval Reserves of New Jersey and Pennsylvania. He is based at the Naval Station in Philadelphia.

On Aug. 10, 1922, he was united in marriage with Miss Wilhelmina Cathaway of San Diego, California. On July 25,

Captain Virgil E. Korn
United States Navy

1927, there was born to them Martha Jean Korns and Brenda Korns, born in 1935.

On April 20, 1908, Dorothy Marguerite Korns was born to Charles Harvey and Cora L. Korns, the only daughter. In June, 1929, she was graduated from Pennsylvania College for Women with the degree of Bachelor of Arts.

Dorothy Marguerite Korns married John F. Leslie and lives at Bridgeport, W. Va. Her husband is in the employ of the Hope Natural Gas Co., at Clarksburg, W. Va. Their children are: June Leslie, born in 1938; Marjorie Leslie, born in 1943.
